

03 | Case Study

Implementation of the corporate environmental model

Business opportunity

The corporate environmental department of a large mining company required a global positioning and alignment program for the environmental management strategy and approach in all the companies in the group.

Solution

Vantaz designed the complete design project and plan to implement technologies, processes and organizational changes. The main points were:

- › Install a corporate environmental management model among the companies in the mining group.
- › Structure an integrated implementation program for the environmental management model in the mining group and member companies.
- › Implement a structured working dynamic of meetings, progress reports, and management reports.

Results

- › Standardise the method for managing environmental aspects in the mining group and its companies under a common model.
- › Install an organised work standard in the environmental teams around the model's pillars, with a work program and ongoing formal monitoring and reporting events.
- › Position this on the executive agenda of the environmental management group and give visibility to the actions of the leadership pillars, incident reporting, and operational and regulatory risks.